Professional Profile

A highly accomplished Sporting Director and Technical Leader with over two decades at elite club, federation and international level, recognised for developing world-class players including Luka Modrić, Ivan Rakitić, Mandzukic and more than 100 Croatian and Saudi internationals through long-term academy and national-team pathways. Extensive experience in strategic football governance, squad planning, talent identification and high-performance systems, combining technical excellence with sustainable models. Proven success working across diverse football cultures in Europe, the Middle East and North Africa, aligning methodology with local context. Former UEFA Technical Committee Member and Instructor, contributing to coach education and modern football frameworks. A leader focused on elite player production, competitive success and future-proof football strategy.
